It is 10 years since the Global Alliance of NGOs for Road Safety (the Alliance) was first established by NGO members of the UN Road Safety Collaboration under the auspices of the World Health Organization (WHO). Since then, from small roots, the Alliance has become a strong civil society movement, strengthening NGOs’ role as knowledgeable and agile partners to their governments and committed representatives for their communities. The Alliance is mobilizing these NGOs to translate global mandates into practical, evidence-based actions that put people at the heart of road systems and save lives.

The Alliance is the leading civil society voice for road safety, uniting NGOs for stronger impact, equipping them for effective advocacy and outcomes, mobilizing them to coordinated action, and representing them in the global road safety arena. The Alliance is not just a network, it is a grassroots civil society movement, feet on the ground, translating global mandates and recommendations into in-country action.

Over the past 10 years, NGOs have led the way to placing people at the heart of road safety. Their influence can be seen in the passing of road safety and mobility laws that put people first; implementation of evidence-based interventions, such as 30 km/h speed limits where people and vehicles mix; and application of street-level infrastructure, such as speed bumps and pedestrian crossings that directly affect the lives of children, commuters, and others who use the roads daily. They have built meaningful relationships with their government decision makers, based on their strong track records, enabling them to bring the perspectives of communities to the decision-making table. They are a voice for accountability and action. The Alliance has equipped and mobilized them to stronger, more effective, and ambitious action. Through learning needs assessments, training, mentoring, campaign and advocacy mobilization, and connecting NGOs to each other and to influential stakeholders, we have enabled our NGOs to grow in knowledge, capacity, network, and confidence.

The first Decade of Action for Road Safety (Decade of Action) 2011–2020 enabled NGOs to learn what works and to build the foundations for strong collaboration with their governments, the private sector, youth, and academics. Now, in the first year of the second Decade of Action 2021–2030, they are ready to step further up, using what they have learned in the first Decade of Action to play their part in reducing road deaths and injuries by 50% by the end of the second Decade of Action. The Alliance has responded to the challenge, scaling up its capacity-building and campaign mobilization and positioning itself as the leading civil society voice for road safety. Join us.

Lotte Brondum
Executive Director
EQUIPPING NGOs FOR ACTION

Our vision is for a world where everyone has the opportunity for a just life, safe from preventable road traffic deaths and injuries.

We seek to accomplish our vision by uniting, empowering, and strengthening road safety NGOs to stimulate collaborative advocacy, action, and accountability for road safety and road victims.

We believe that safe mobility is a right that should be protected and promoted.

A GLOBAL EMERGENCY

Every year, 1.35 million people are killed on the world’s roads, and road crashes are the leading cause of death for young people aged 5–29; 95% of people know someone who has been injured in a road crash, and 87% know someone who has been killed.

A new Decade of Action for Road Safety has been launched with the aim of reducing road deaths and injuries by 50% by 2030. We know the solutions that work—that will enable countries to achieve the 2030 target—they are set out in the Global Plan for the Decade of Action for Road Safety 2021–2030, but political will and investment are needed to make them happen.

1Global Status Report on Road Safety 2018, https://www.who.int/publications/i/item/9789241565684
The Global Plan sets out a role for civil society. It shows that NGOs, as civil society’s representatives, are essential partners in achieving the 2030 target. For the past 10 years, the Alliance has been equipping its NGOs to be the voices of their communities, holding their governments accountable for implementing road safety actions that have been proven to save lives.

NGOs’ ROLE IN THE GLOBAL PLAN

What the Global Plan says

- “helping amplify the voice of academia by being an advocate and acting as an independent voice to influence social change”
- “supporting development of policies by augmenting the evidence base and bringing the perspectives of communities impacted by those policies to the table”

How the Alliance Equipped NGOs in 2021

- Through innovative, practical capacity-building programs, the Alliance equips NGOs to base their advocacy on data and evidence and strengthen their influence on policies and implementation.
  - Alliance Incubator
    - Our flagship capacity-building program provides tailored support—including training, mentoring, and small grants to 41 NGOs, through 10 individual projects and seven coalitions—strengthening their capacity to gain policy commitments, leading to new laws being drafted and implemented.

- The Alliance consolidates the unique people-centered perspectives of NGOs and communities to global stakeholders through publications and programs.
  - Good Practice Guide to Meaningful NGO Participation in the Field of Road Safety
    - Based on Alliance member experiences of working with their governments, this guide demonstrates the value that NGOs can add to decision making and how they can be most effective in this role.
  - LEARN
    - Gathering academics, NGOs, and government officials to collaborate on joint action plans to augment road safety data in countries in Africa.
  - Africa’s Response to COVID-19 Impacts on Transport and Mobility
    - Alliance NGOs were trained to run focus groups with transport stakeholders in their countries, to gather community-level perspectives for this study of the impact of COVID-19 on transport and mobility in Africa.

- The Alliance bridges the gap between people and policy and mobilizes NGOs to conduct campaigns in their countries that mobilize people to demand safer roads and journeys.
  - UN Global Road Safety Week
    - The 2021 UN Global Road Safety Week called for 30 km/h limits on streets where people walk, live, and play. The Alliance mobilized its network of grassroots NGOs, collaborating with WHO and the UN Road Safety Collaboration, to provide practical tools and amplify NGOs’ successes to a global audience.
  - Commitment Tracker
    - This online tool enables NGOs to log specific, measurable commitments that they receive from their government decision makers, so they can be tracked into action.
  - Accountability sessions
    - The Alliance hosts periodic online sessions involving national and city decision makers, to seek commitment for evidence-based action and to follow up on existing commitments.
  - Launch of the Global Plan
    - The Alliance coordinated a member consultation to provide feedback on the draft version of the Global Plan. In support of the launch, it mobilized NGOs to deliver the plan to their decision makers.
  - Supporting event for the High-Level Meeting on Road Safety
    - Lotte Brondum was among panelists representing civil society at an event hosted by the president of the UN General Assembly at the UN headquarters in New York, to discuss sustainable financing and the role of different stakeholders in the Decade of Action and 2030 targets.
NGOs AS PARTNERS FOR THE 2030 TARGETS

The Alliance represents 288 members in 98 countries.

- Africa 28%
- Asia Pacific 26%
- Europe 25%
- North America 5%
- Latin America 16%
GLOBAL, REGIONAL, NATIONAL, AND LOCAL

As well as giving NGOs a global voice and supporting their work at national and local levels in their countries, the Alliance facilitates collaboration at a regional level, leveraging similarities between NGOs’ experiences and enabling them to support and encourage each other. The Africa Chapter of the Global Alliance of NGOs for Road Safety was launched in 2018. It has encouraged new coalitions for joint advocacy and engagement with legislators through the Global Network for Road Safety Legislators.

A new chapter will be launched for the Latin American region in 2022, with a view to additional chapters in the years ahead.

In action

NGO LASER International, in Senegal, has been advocating for 30 km/h limits in school zones for a number of years and, in 2021, succeeded in getting a proposed law adopted by the Council of Ministers, chaired by the country’s president. The proposed law has been sent to Parliament for a vote. LASER International used the UN Global Road Safety Week and Alliance Incubator to strengthen their advocacy for the law. It utilized the Africa Chapter’s collaboration with the Africa Network of Road Safety Legislators to engage a key Member of Parliament and to gain support for the amendment.

The SADC Alliance of NGOs for Road Safety was set up by a group of three Alliance members with support from the Incubator program. Members advocate jointly and in parallel for measures, including 30 km/h limits in school zones and urban areas and ratification of the African Road Safety Charter in their countries. They align their messaging and activities to harness their collective strength. The SADC Alliance was officially launched in May 2021 and now has 15 members in 11 countries. NGOs have joined the Alliance as a result of their connection to the SADC Alliance.

In Argentina, a joint project between Luchemos por la Vida Asociación Civil and Asociación Madres del Dolor has leveraged Alliance offerings, including the Incubator, Global Plan handovers, and UN Global Road Safety Week, to advocate for safer cycling, including 30 km/h limits and cycle lanes. Their efforts have led to commitments in nine municipalities, which have already been implemented in five. 20 more municipalities have been engaged. The NGOs are working with a senator to draft a national law for 30 km/h limits on urban roads. The coalition’s initial objective was to achieve commitments in two municipalities, therefore the project has significantly exceeded its initial advocacy goals.
READY FOR A NEW DECADE

In 2021, the Alliance conducted a survey among our members to gauge how effectively the first Decade of Action and being a part of the Alliance had prepared them to play a leading role in the second Decade of Action.

NGO READINESS FOR THE DECADE OF ACTION

The survey results suggest that member NGOs have good capacity for the Decade of Action.

- 76.8% of member NGOs had a mission statement, strategic objectives, or articulated goals
- 61% had annual strategic/action planning
- 89% of NGOs were able to identify their best achievement/success in terms of positive outcomes for road safety
- 81% of NGOs reported facing challenges in their attempts to improve road safety
- 78% of them reported having addressed those challenges

Opportunities presented by the Second Decade of Action, identified by NGOs:

- New funding
- Greater collaborations and partnerships
- Greater NGO credibility/recognition
- NGO working with government
- Greater inclusion of NGO in actions
- Greater commitments/actions from all sectors, including government
- Global movement to push greater actions

THE ALLIANCE’S ROLE IN EQUIPPING NGOs

Top five areas, where the Alliance contributed to capacity growth

- Information and awareness building
- Networking
- Advocacy
- Training/education
- Partnerships/coalition building

84%–99% of respondents rated activities as contributing to their NGO’s growth to various degrees.

Members also identified NGO credibility, sense of unity, sharing, and learning international best practices, and NGO funding opportunities as Alliance contributions.

LOOKING AHEAD TO 2022

Building on the advocacy gains of 2021, the Alliance has established three policy objectives that will be honed for global and regional calls to action. These calls to action will be pushed through a series of moments in 2022 to bring them to the attention of decision makers.

Our Advocacy Objectives

1. EVIDENCE-BASED ACTIONS: start with 30 km/h limits or lower where people walk, live, and play to save lives
2. INVESTMENT IN ROAD SAFETY: allocate comprehensive funding alongside transparent public reporting
3. NGO INVOLVEMENT IN DECISION-MAKING PROCESSES: civil society expertise is needed at all levels of government to make smart decisions
The Sixth UN Global Road Safety Week’s theme was Streets for Life: #Love30, advocating for 30 km/h speed limits on urban roads where people walk, live, and play. This clear, specific measure has been proven to reduce the occurrence and severity of road crashes, making it a key tool for reducing road deaths and injuries by 2030.

Alliance NGOs used the UN Global Road Safety Week to mobilize communities and advocate with their decision makers at both national and local levels. The Alliance supported their efforts with the #Love30 Rally and Twitterstorm.

On the back of the UN Global Road Safety Week, the groundwork is underway for national policies in Argentina, Kenya, Peru, and Uganda, while in Ecuador, Senegal, Spain, Tunisia, and Zambia, policies that were already progressing through the legislative process received an additional push. In many other countries, NGOs were able to get commitments for 30 km/h limits and other speed-limiting measures for specific streets or zones. Additionally, more than 100 decision makers endorsed 30 km/h limits.

To maintain momentum, the Alliance is continuing to support NGOs in their advocacy for 30 km/h limits in the lead up to the High-Level Meeting on Road Safety in July 2022. The campaign received a prestigious Prince Michael International Road Safety Award.

In action

The Adel Metni Foundation’s Streets for Life campaign mobilized public support and gained commitments from three municipalities in Beirut, Lebanon, for 30 km/h speed limits on five busy streets, as well as other interventions to improve safe walking and cycling, including traffic calming, widened sidewalks, and improved lighting. The interventions have been successfully implemented on all five streets and periodic audits are being undertaken to measure their effectiveness. The campaign has attracted “positive jealousy” from other municipalities that have seen the benefits achieved on these five Streets for Life and now seek to implement similar interventions in other parts of the city.

The Global Plan was launched in October 2021. To support the launch, Alliance member NGOs arranged events and meetings with decision makers, presenting them with a copy of the Global Plan and advocating for its implementation.

A photograph was taken at each event to demonstrate that the Global Plan had been handed over to the relevant authority—kick-starting advocacy for the evidence-based measures contained within it. So far, the Global Plan has been handed over to decision makers in 36 countries.

In action

In Tanzania, Alliance members Helmet Vaccine Initiative Tanzania Foundation, Road Safety Ambassadors of Tanzania, and Tanzania Women Lawyers Association joined forces with the WHO country representative to present the Global Plan to the country’s president and Ministers at the inauguration of National Road Safety Week.

The NGOs followed up the ceremonial handover with a working session involving the members of the National Road Safety Council and the regional traffic officers. At this session, they walked the government officials through the Global Plan in detail. The National Road Safety Council will start work on incorporating the Global Plan into a national plan.
2021 IN FOCUS:
OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

NETWORKING AND SHARING
The Alliance’s networking and sharing activities bring the member community closer together, helping them to learn from and inspire each other and to unite under unified calls to action and activities.

New associate member category
In 2021, the Alliance launched a new associate member category. So far, 19 associate members have joined the Alliance and are contributing to the strength and diversity of our movement.

Africa Chapter
The Africa Chapter is uniting road safety NGOs in Africa more closely, harnessing their joint experience, building their capacity, and amplifying their advocacy voices with their governments.

Five FedEx Road Safety Award winners
The FedEx Road Safety Award is presented every two years to Alliance members that have demonstrated outstanding commitment, growth, and active involvement in the Alliance and its mission. This year’s awards recognized organizations that have used coalitions and partnerships to effectively advocate for safer and more sustainable transport.

ADVOCACY AND ACCOUNTABILITY
The Alliance supports its members by mobilizing them to effective advocacy and enabling them to keep their governments accountable for road safety.

Alliance member UN Global Road Safety Week campaigns reached 112 million people. See pages 14 and 15.

Global Plan handed over to decision makers in 36 countries. See pages 16 and 17.

The Good Practice Guide to Meaningful NGO Participation in the Field of Road Safety, launched in September 2021, is a practical resource, describing steps that NGOs and other civil society advocates can take to position themselves more effectively with their governments. It is based on the experience of Alliance members, as reported through the survey conducted earlier in the year.

Africa’s Response to COVID-19 Impacts on Transport and Mobility was a collaboration between the Alliance and the International Road Federation (IRF Geneva). The study assessed the transport sector response during the COVID-19 pandemic in seven low-, and lower middle-income countries in Africa.

At the Supporting Event for the High-Level Meeting on Road Safety, hosted by the president of the UN General Assembly at UN Headquarters in New York, Lotte Brondum was a panelist for a multi-stakeholder hearing. Representing the experiences of NGOs around the world, she called for governments to take road safety seriously by committing the funding needed to achieve the 2030 targets.
Following the Good Samaritan law training, The Ability People (TAP), Sukheekshan Foundation, and Indian Federation of Road Safety (IFROS) formed a coalition within the Alliance Incubator to advocate for implementation of the Good Samaritan law in Andhra Pradesh and Telangana States in India. As a result, the Andhra Pradesh government has committed to make it compulsory for all hospitals and police stations to provide information about Good Samaritan rights and to reward people who assist road victims. The state government will collaborate with the coalition to develop standard operating procedures for hospitals, police, and transport departments.

41 NGOs were equipped through the Alliance Incubator, our flagship training program, launched in 2021. Incubator NGOs receive tailored training, coaching, and support, as they target a specific advocacy goal, sharpening and strengthening their work.

3 action plans progressed under the LEARN program in Kenya, Senegal, and Uganda. The program, in collaboration with IRF Geneva, brings together NGOs in Africa with government officials, academics, and the private sector, to create joint action plans for road safety data projects.

81 advocates in Italy, Spain, Poland, Brazil, Colombia, and Mexico were trained through the Safer Cycling Advocate Program in 2021. Through the program, NGOs are equipped to work with authorities and communities to promote safer cycling within their cities.

16 Alliance NGOs in India took part in a capacity building program to prepare campaigns to improve awareness of and protect the rights of Good Samaritans, bystanders who assist road victims at the scene of a crash.

We thank our sponsors for investing in our vision and the life-saving work of our members.

FedEx is a long-term funder of the Alliance and has been instrumental in the Alliance’s growth. As well as providing core funding for Alliance activities, it has subsidized the Alliance Empowerment Program and the FedEx Award, and FedEx Express Europe sponsors the Safer Cycling Advocate Program.

TotalEnergies Foundation sponsors the Africa Chapter, a key element in our regional approach to uniting NGOs more closely, harnessing their joint experience, building capacity, and amplifying their advocacy. It also sponsors the LEARN project, enabling the development of coalitions between governments and civil society and promoting the use of data in road safety.

WHO has provided support to the Alliance for mobilizing NGO advocacy, including funding for NGOs for the UN Global Road Safety Week campaigns and Global Plan handovers, as well as for preparatory tools and resources.

UPS Foundation sponsored the Good Samaritan law capacity-building project, equipping Alliance NGOs in India to promote implementation of a law that protects bystanders who assist road traffic victims.

FIA Foundation is equipping NGOs’ advocacy for 30 km/h limits, supporting 12 Incubator projects and 10 NGO UN Global Road Safety Week campaigns.

High Volume Transport Applied Research Programme, funded by UK aid from the UK government as part of its response to COVID-19, funded the study Africa’s Response to COVID-19 Impacts on Transport and Mobility, assessing the transport sector response during the COVID-19 pandemic in seven low- and lower middle-income countries in Africa.
Our NGOs are the heart of who the Alliance is and what we do.
